DUKE MARKETING SCORES NEW BUSINESS FROM LEFT BANK RESTAURANT GROUP

San Rafael, Calif. – January 1, 2003 – Duke Marketing™, an Integrated Marketing Communications firm, announced today it has won new business from the Left Bank Restaurant Group, the chain of French restaurants based in Larkspur, CA. Left Bank has retained Duke Marketing to provide marketing consulting, public relations, local store marketing and in-store promotions.

“We wanted to take our marketing and PR to the next level and Duke Marketing has a great feel for what we need,” said Jim VanDercook, President, Left Bank Restaurant Group. “We are positive Duke Marketing can help us reach our goals and give momentum to our growth plans.”

Duke Marketing specializes in multi-location marketing and currently the Left Bank Restaurant Group operates 3 locations in the Bay Area, with a fourth at the Santana Row development opening soon. Roland Passot, of San Francisco's La Folie Fame, has been a major player in establishing the Left Bank Restaurants. The spacious, family-friendly restaurants boast not only airy, linen-lined dining rooms, but also casual, open-air terraces and informal bars. The unfussy menus are inspired by the straightforward cooking of Passot's French grandmother.

“The Left Bank Restaurants have the look, the feel, and definitely the food,” stated Linda Duke, CEO and Principal of Duke Marketing. “We are excited to assist them in taking their marketing and public relations efforts to the next level and transport diners straight to Paris—well almost,” she continued.

Duke Marketing provides a full range of services, including: strategic consulting and market positioning, image development, names, themes, and tag lines, writing, designing and producing advertisements, brochures, direct mail, Web sites, trade show materials and newsletters, as well as creating publicity, managing events, speaking engagements, and public relations.
